

ORGANIZATIONS

We forget that there is no hope of joy except in human relations. If I summon up those memories that have left me with an enduring savor, if I draw up the balance sheet of the hours in my life that have truly counted, surely I find only those that no wealth could have procured me. True riches cannot be bought.
— Antoine de St. Exupery.

The fruits of the earth do not more obviously require labor and cultivation to prepare them for our use and subsistence, than our faculties demand instruction and regulation in order to qualify us to become upright and valuable members of society, useful to others, or happy ourselves. — Isaac Barrow

CIVILIAN COLLEGE BOARD

The students of Pennsylvania Military College, believing that the true development of character and responsibility lies in the ability to govern themselves, have established student government under a constitution.

Each student in the Civilian College is vested with the authority to make and enforce regulations governing student activities and class organizations within their college, through the representatives serving on the Board.

College. It will be among the leading groups in the Mardi Gras Parade, New Orleans, 1966. Awarded first place among competing bands at New York Worlds' Fair in 1965.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN MILITARY ENGINEERS:

This Society is composed of engineers and others, who believe that the lessons of the past should be preserved and studied as a guide to the future; to encourage, foster and develop relations of helpful interest between the engineering profession in civil life and that in the military service. In the interest of National Defense, the Society advances the knowledge of the Science of Military Engineering and promotes efficiency in the military engineering service of the United States. Capt. Ralph P. Kennedy, E. Matuszak, E. Moscatelli, J. Kimmel, C. Merkel, and J. Harris.

PENROSE CLUB

The Penrose Republican Club is chartered by the "Collegiate Council" of the Pennsylvania Young Republican Federation. The club, of course, exists in order to further the Republican ideals. As the largest collegiate Republican Club in the state, it enjoys an excellent reputation with both state and local Republican organizations. Advisor — Mr. J. Mervyn Harris.

PMC STUDENTS PARTICIPATING IN COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES

In addition to campus organizations, students of PMC participate in several off-campus Community Activities. Notable among these are the Ridley Park Boy's Club drill team, The Chester Boy's Club drill team, and the recently chartered Explorer Markmanship Boy Scout Post at PMC.

The Chester Boy's Club Drill Team is one of the many outside activities which PMC Cadets have assisted in forming.

The Ridley Park Boy's Club is another organization where cadets teach the intricacies of trick drill. It is sponsored by PR.

NEWMAN CLUB

CANTERBURY CLUB

The Canterbury Club is an organization for the people of college age in the Episcopal Church. The name "Canterbury" is in honor of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the spiritual head of all churches in the Anglican Communion. The P.M.C. Canterbury Club was organized in the fall of 1955 under the guidance of the Rev. John H. Hauser, then Rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church in Chester. The purpose of the P.M.C. Chapter is to give to its members an outlet for the discussion of common problems, and to aid students in keeping pace with current religious activities.

NEWMAN OFFICERS:

John Lynch, Richard Murphy, Prof. Eugene F. Brady, Edward Farrel, Joseph Keilb and Joseph Spano.

The Newman Club is an organization of Catholic culture and Catholic fellowship that has the purpose of fostering spiritual, intellectual, and social interests of students of that faith. The Club also attempts to weld the students into a common union and aid the college and community wherever possible.

The Student Council embodies those people who make up the Student Government Association.

The Students of Pennsylvania Military College, believing that the true development of character and responsibility lies in the ability to govern themselves, have established student government under a constitution.

This constitution makes each student at P.M.C. a member of the government which vests the Student Government with the authority to make and enforce regulations governing student activities and class organizations as set forth in the constitution; however, the Student Government does not have the jurisdiction over those aspects of student life covered by regular College administrative regulations. The attitude of every student should be one of cooperation, with the realization that the safety and general welfare of the students as a whole demand rules which may seem unnecessary to the individual; for only in this way can student government be effective.

The purpose of this organization is to: promote a spirit of unity among the students; maintain a high standard of honor; improve student-faculty relationships; assist in the development of institutional policy; provide orderly direction of student activities; charter all clubs and organizations, except social fraternities recognized by the administration; and promote the general welfare of the students and the institution.

The administration of government, like a guardianship, ought to be directed to the good of those who confer, not of those who receive the trust.

— Marcus Cicero.

Absentee management, no matter how honest and able, cannot equal local management . . . And it certainly does not sit well with labor, investors, consumers, and the communities back home. It is their industry and they should be in on it.

— William O. Douglas.

THE SOCIETY FOR ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT

The S.A.M. is a recognized national professional society covering management in industry, commerce, government, and education. Established at P.M.C. during the fall of 1954, the local chapter has absorbed the Business Administration Club and now presents a program aimed to familiarize the student members with the problems and understanding of modern scientific principles of management.

President — George J. Frame
Vice President — Marvin G. Shipp
Secretary — Richard O. Berkey, Jr.
Faculty Adviser — Prof. William J. Zahka.

THE POLITICAL SCIENCE HONOR SOCIETY

Dennis Isom, Stuart DeWitt, Prof. John W. Hopkirk, Faculty advisor, Mark M. Ristau, chairman, and Gerald Johnson.

The Political Science Honor Society is the old honorary organization at Pennsylvania Military College. It is a selective organization whose members are dedicated to an intense fathoming of the issues involved in the disciplines of political science. Membership is not limited to political science majors; however, students must have the qualifications required by Pi Sigma Alpha, National Political Science Honorary Fraternity.

USED BOOK AGENCY

The Used Book Agency is a non-profit service of the Student Government Association which operates for the first two weeks of each semester in the College Center. Students who wish to sell used books may place them with the Used Book Agency, setting their own prices for them. Students desiring to purchase used text books may choose from those placed in the Used Book Agency, saving considerable amounts.
