Dr. Mull Says Problems Growth Imbalance and Faculty Selection Topics of Interview

The interview with a general supervisor covering the overall picture of the college, both internal and external, Dr. Mull was called to discuss growth, faculty selection, additional academic, extracurricular activities, and the role of the student body in the college's development.

By Arthur DeGroot and John C. Miller

The interview began with a general question regarding the overall picture of the college, both internal and external. Dr. Mull was called to discuss growth, faculty selection, additional academic, extracurricular activities, and the role of the student body in the college's development.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Constitution Adoption By Council Unanimous

Students Will Vote on Ratification

On October 21, Student Council unanimously adopted a new constitution, including itself and electing the Student Government Association of PAC College. The Constitution will be ratified in a campus-wide vote of all students on Nov. 15.

By Melvin Blumberg, chairman of the committee which drew the constitution, in an interview with The Dome.

"Through the new constitution, we are setting ourselves up for a more consistent line in our work," Blumberg said. "We will be able to handle our affairs more effectively, and we will be able to handle our affairs more effectively, and we will be able to handle our affairs more effectively."
